1. Event: Essay Writing Competition on "Yoga"

Venue: SNGC, Chembur

Date: June 19, 2019

Nature of Activity: Area Level II Competition

Participants: 12

Objectives:

1. To promote awareness about the significance of yoga in maintaining physical, mental, and spiritual well-being.
2. To encourage creative expression and critical thinking among participants through essay writing.
3. To celebrate International Day of Yoga and its universal importance.

Description of Activity:

On June 19, 2019, the NSS unit of SNGC, Chembur, organized an Essay Writing Competition on the theme of "Yoga" in commemoration of the International Day of Yoga. The competition provided a platform for participants to express their thoughts, insights, and experiences related to the practice and benefits of yoga.

Participants were given a set duration to write essays exploring various aspects of yoga, including its history, philosophy, techniques, and impact on personal health and well-being. They were encouraged to delve into both the physical and spiritual dimensions of yoga, as well as its relevance in modern-day lifestyles.

The essays were evaluated based on criteria such as originality of thought, clarity of expression, depth of understanding, and adherence to the theme. A panel of judges comprising faculty members and subject matter experts assessed the entries and selected the winners based on merit.

In addition to the competition itself, participants were provided with resources and information about yoga, including its origins, different forms and practices, and its integration into holistic wellness routines. This supplementary knowledge aimed to enrich their understanding and appreciation of yoga beyond the scope of the competition.

Outcomes Achieved:

1. Increased awareness about the multifaceted benefits of yoga among participants through the process of research and reflection during essay writing.
2. Promotion of creative expression and critical thinking skills among participants, fostering intellectual growth and personal development.
3. Celebration of the International Day of Yoga by engaging in a meaningful activity that resonates with the principles and ethos of yoga.

STUDENTS WRITING ESSAY

Event: Poster Making Competition on "Yoga"

Venue: SNGC, Chembur

Date: June 20, 2019

Nature of Activity: Area Level II Competition

Participants: 10

Objectives:

1. To raise awareness about the significance of yoga in promoting physical and mental well-being.
2. To encourage creative expression and artistic talent among participants through poster making.
3. To celebrate the International Day of Yoga and its global impact.

Description of Activity:

On June 20, 2019, the NSS unit of SNGC, Chembur, organized a Poster Making Competition on the theme of "Yoga" as part of the celebrations for the International Day of Yoga. The competition provided participants with an opportunity to visually represent the essence and benefits of yoga through artistic expression.

Participants were provided with art supplies and a designated time frame to create posters that conveyed the message of yoga in an engaging and visually appealing manner. They were encouraged to explore various aspects of yoga, such as asanas (postures), meditation, mindfulness, and the holistic benefits for mind, body, and spirit.

Each poster was evaluated based on criteria such as creativity, relevance to the theme, visual impact, and clarity of message. A panel of judges comprising faculty members and artists assessed the entries and selected the winners based on artistic merit and alignment with the theme.

In addition to the competition, participants were briefed on the significance of the International Day of Yoga and its growing recognition as a global observance for promoting health and well-being. Information about the history, philosophy, and benefits of yoga was shared to enrich their understanding and appreciation of the theme.

Outcomes Achieved:

1. Increased awareness about the practice and benefits of yoga among participants through creative expression and artistic interpretation.
2. Promotion of artistic talent and creativity among participants, fostering a culture of expression and innovation within the college community.
3. Celebration of the International Day of Yoga by engaging in a creative and visually impactful activity that resonates with the spirit of yoga.

Future Recommendations:

1. Organize exhibitions or displays showcasing the posters created during the competition to further amplify the message of yoga and its importance.
2. Collaborate with local art institutions or galleries to showcase the winning posters in public spaces, reaching a broader audience and spreading awareness about yoga.
3. Incorporate elements of yoga-inspired art and creativity into future events and initiatives to continue promoting the practice and its benefits in innovative ways.

Session on Yoga

Date: June 21, 2021

Type: Online

Location: Online via Zoom App

Coverage: Area Level II

Participation: 64 participants

Objective: The main objective of this activity was to promote physical and mental well-being among participants by conducting a session on yoga, emphasizing its benefits for holistic health.

Description: On June 21, 2021, the NSS unit organized an online session dedicated to yoga practice, coinciding with the International Day of Yoga. The session aimed to introduce participants to various yoga techniques and provide them with practical guidance on incorporating yoga into their daily routines.

Activities Undertaken:

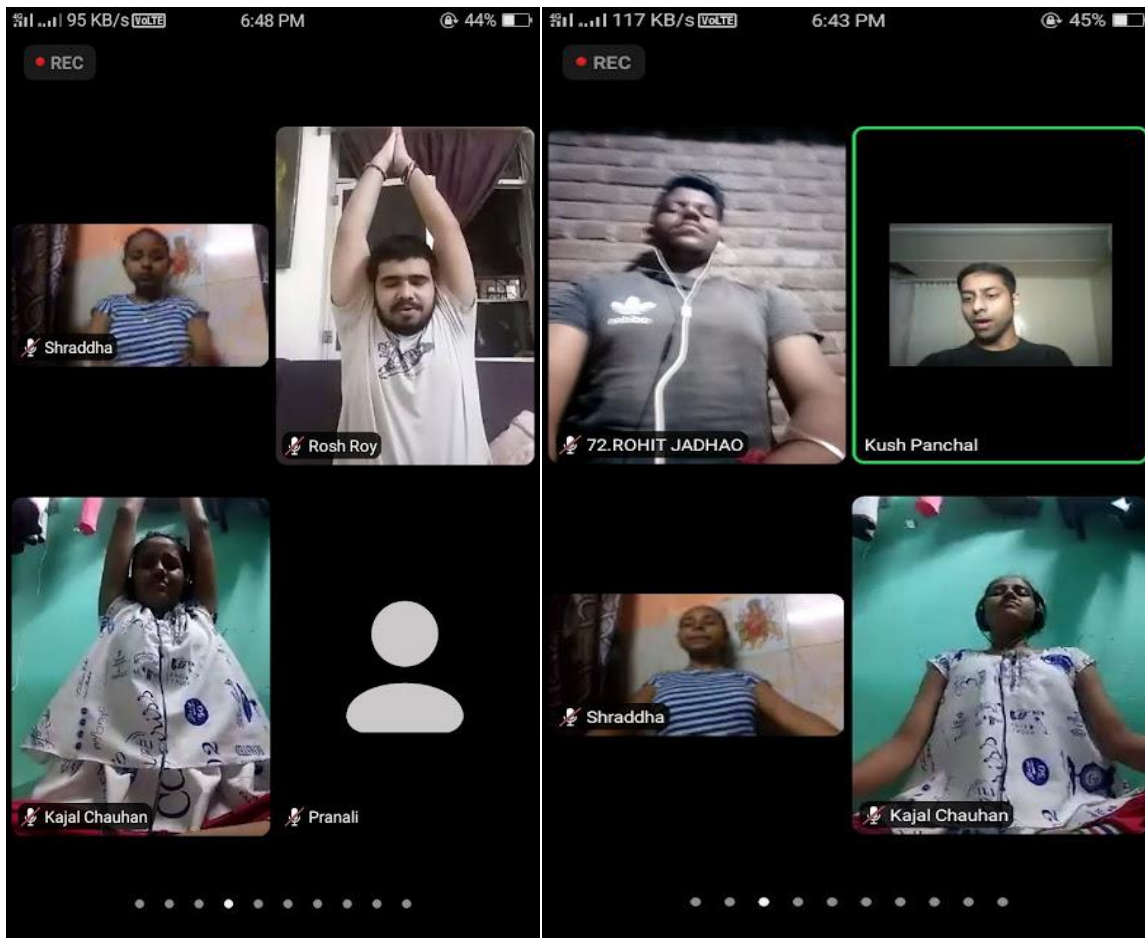

1. Planning and scheduling of the online yoga session, ensuring accessibility and ease of participation for all interested individuals.
2. Selection of qualified yoga instructors or facilitators to lead the session and provide expert guidance on yoga postures, breathing exercises, and relaxation techniques.
3. Promotion of the event through social media channels, email invitations, and word-of-mouth communication to attract a diverse audience.
4. Setup and configuration of the Zoom platform to host the online session, including registration procedures, audiovisual settings, and interactive features.
5. Conducting a structured yoga session comprising warm-up exercises, asanas (physical postures), pranayama (breathing techniques), and dhyana (meditation) practices.
6. Offering personalized instruction and modifications to accommodate the varying skill levels and physical abilities of participants.
7. Facilitating a Q&A session at the end of the yoga session to address any queries or concerns raised by participants regarding yoga practice and its benefits.

Outcomes:

1. Active participation of 64 individuals in the online yoga session, demonstrating a keen interest in holistic health and well-being.
2. Improved awareness and understanding of yoga principles and practices among participants, empowering them to integrate yoga into their lifestyle choices.
3. Enhanced physical flexibility, strength, and relaxation achieved through the practice of yoga asanas and breathing exercises.
4. Reduction of stress, anxiety, and fatigue levels reported by participants following the yoga session, indicating positive effects on mental health and emotional well-being.

Conclusion: The Session on Yoga organized by the NSS unit served as a valuable opportunity to promote the ancient practice of yoga and its myriad benefits for individuals' physical, mental, and emotional health. By embracing yoga as a holistic approach to wellness, participants were able to experience firsthand the transformative power of regular practice. Moving forward, it is essential to continue offering such initiatives and fostering a culture of self-care and mindfulness within the community.

Departmental Fest Report: Iidara 3.0 - Bachelor of Management Studies

Date: 17th August 2022

Introduction:

Iidara 3.0, the intercollege level departmental fest organized by the Bachelor of Management Studies department, was a grand event that brought together students from various colleges to showcase their skills, talents, and management prowess. The fest comprised a diverse range of events, including a Marketing Mela, Mock Interviews, Sell a Product, and Sports events like Football and Carrom. With participation from more than 11 colleges and approximately 376 enthusiastic participants, Iidara 3.0 was a celebration of knowledge, competitiveness, and camaraderie.

Event Highlights:

1. Marketing Mela:

The Marketing Mela was a bustling marketplace where students exhibited their marketing acumen by creating innovative stalls to sell products or services. Each stall was an amalgamation of creativity and business strategy, leaving visitors impressed with the marketing brilliance displayed by the participants.

2. Mock Interviews:

The Mock Interview segment aimed to prepare students for their future careers by simulating real-life job interview scenarios. Experienced professionals and faculty members conducted the interviews and provided valuable feedback to the participants, helping them enhance their interview skills and build confidence.

3. Sell a Product:

In the Sell a Product event, students were given the opportunity to showcase their entrepreneurship skills. Each participant presented a unique product idea and demonstrated their selling techniques to the judges. The event not only encouraged innovation but also fostered an entrepreneurial spirit among the students.

4. Sports Events:

The sports events, including Football and Carrom, brought out the competitive spirit in the participants. The matches were intense and filled with moments of excitement and sportsmanship. The sports events added a dynamic element to the fest and allowed students to unwind and bond over friendly competitions.

Participation and Impact:

Iidara 3.0 witnessed an overwhelming response from students across colleges, with more than 11 institutions sending their brightest talents to participate in the fest. The total count of approximately 376 participants showcased the fest's popularity and the department's commitment to organizing an inclusive and engaging event.

The fest provided a platform for participants to learn, network, and gain exposure to real-world scenarios in their respective fields. It served as a melting pot of ideas and perspectives, enriching the participants' academic experience and fostering a spirit of healthy competition.

Conclusion:

Iidara 3.0, the intercollege level departmental fest organized by the Bachelor of Management Studies department, was a resounding success. The event brought together students from various colleges, promoting knowledge exchange, creativity, and collaboration. The diverse range of events, including the Marketing Mela, Mock Interviews, sell a Product, and sports competitions, ensured that the fest catered to a wide array of interests and talents.

The participation from more than 11 colleges and approximately 376 students demonstrated the fest's immense popularity and impact. Iidara 3.0 not only provided a competitive platform for students to showcase their skills but also offered valuable learning experiences and memories that will remain with the participants for a lifetime.

The success of Iidara 3.0 serves as a testament to the hard work and dedication of the organizing committee, faculty, and students involved in making this event a memorable and enriching experience. As the curtains close on this edition of Iidara, the department looks forward to more such events in the future, continuing to inspire and empower the next generation of management professionals.
